PROTECTING THE SEXUAL INNOCENCE OF CHILDREN IN YOUTH SERVING ORGANIZATIONS

Claims of child abuse and molestation are in the news every day, often reporting multi-million dollar settlements against schools and other youth-serving entities. The current climate is demanding a shift in focus from abuse at home to abuse at school and from reporting to prevention.

This session will introduce specific steps to create an environment where child molesters virtually cannot succeed without being caught and therefore won't want to work. We will discuss 8 informed best practices including child protection focused applicant screening processes and boundary policies that will significantly lower the risk of a child in your care being sexually abused.

Jeffrey Mayerson, Vice President of Enterprise Solutions with STOPit will present information on their comprehensive software platform that mitigates, deters, and controls inappropriate conduct and provides organizational transparency.

Rick Phillips, Executive Director and founder of Community Matters will discuss the work of the nonprofit he founded. Community Matters works with students in assisting them in becoming upstanding citizens capable of conflict resolution and reporting concerns. This building of compassion in action creates safer school environments for all.
